"Far away there in the sunshine are my highest aspirations. I may not reach them, but I can look up and see their beauty, believe in them, and try to follow where they lead." ---Louisa May Alcott

Something OLD Something NEW

This year has brought about many changes to Ludlow High School. Physically the building is in the middle of the renovations project. Newly renovated classrooms, hallways, and gym areas were a highlight for all students to see as soon as school opened in the fall. The guidance office as well as student management had two different locations during the year.

Not only has the building gone through changes, but the staff of Ludlow High School has as well. As more and more teachers retire, many of whom have been at LHS for a great number of years, new faces are brought in to replace them.

Although the school is half finished, the students have learned to adjust and adapt very quickly. But in the end, it is not the renovations or new teachers that students will remember the most, but all the good times they've had and all the memories they've shared at LHS.

► These senior boys spent their February vacation helping the custodians move the guidance office and some of the English classrooms to their newly-renovated rooms. They were paid for their services, of course.

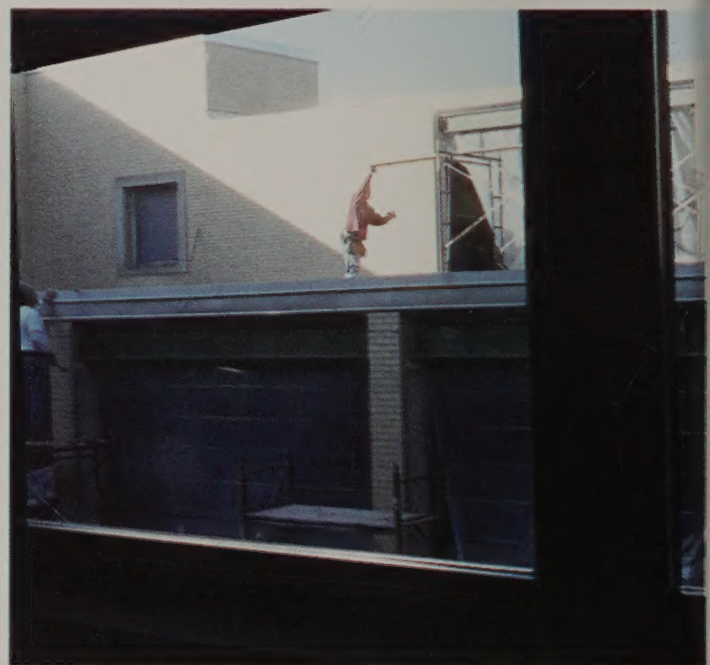

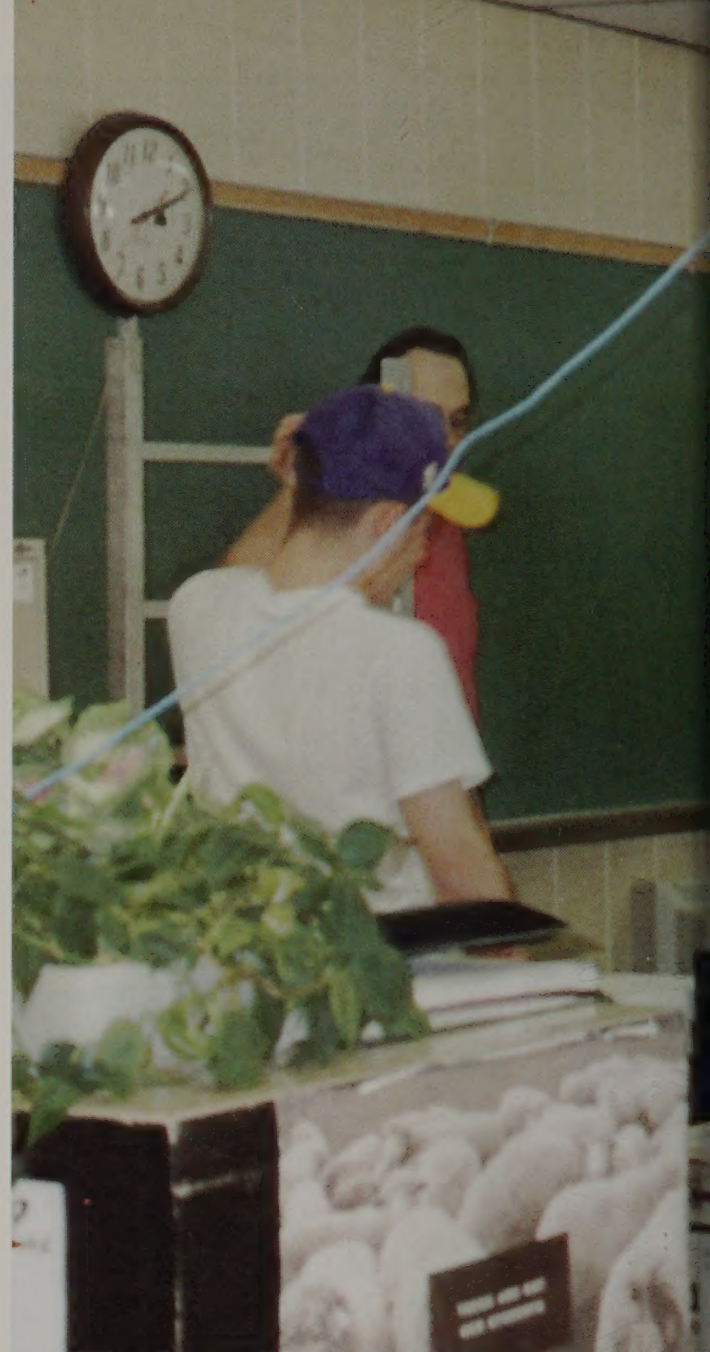

► The back fields, although not yet completed, are anxiously awaited. The new facilities are not expected to be completed until the next school year because the grass must still grow on the fields.

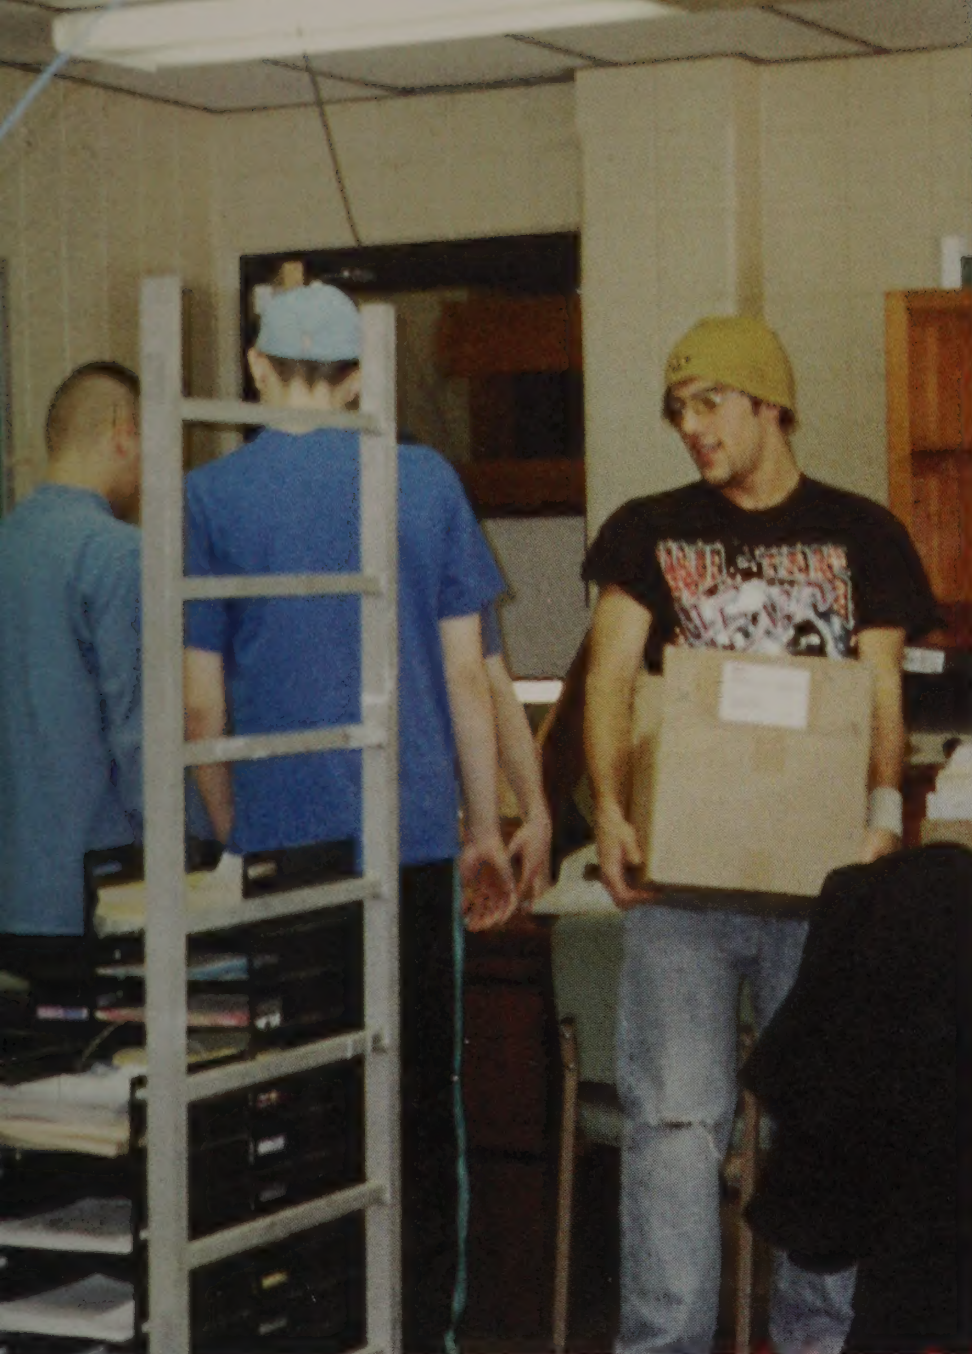

Renovations of the high school still in progress.

A New Building

The renovations project first began at Ludlow High when the current seniors were freshmen, so hearing the sounds of a construction site, having a construction worker walk into a classroom to install a telephone, or evacuating the school at a moment's notice have all been a part of their high school experience. The third phase ended with the completion of the new gymnasium, locker rooms, and the main hallway (now called D wing) including guidance, student management, and the nurse's office. In February the fourth and final phase began. All renovations are scheduled to be completed by September of 2001.

▲ Construction workers outside a classroom window is a common sight to many students. Here two workers take down the flimsy, exterior walls from the 1972 addition to the original high school.

▼ The newly-renovated guidance office was still in disarray before Mrs. Anna Amaral, guidance secretary, placed all the college materials back in their proper places on the shelves.

▲ A long line of old desks with chairs attached is lined up along the hallway going to the gym, to be discarded at a later date. All new furniture for students and teachers was a part of the renovations project.

◀ Because the physics storage area was taken over when the final phase began, a newly-renovated boys' bathroom is being used in the meantime as storage space. The girls' bathroom is also used as a storage area for science equipment.

▼ Junior Chris Bernardo scans items into the register while working as a cashier at the Ludlow Big Y on a Tuesday night.

▲ Senior Alex Portelada pushes the shopping carts he brought in from outside the Ludlow Walgreens, where he works part time.

► Junior Tiffany Duchesne starts her clean up routine for the night at the local CVS by vacuuming the rug in the front of the store. The CVS recently moved to its own building and out of the Big Y plaza.

Many Ludlow High students have part-time jobs.

New Labor Force

Because it costs so much to do anything such as go to a movie ($8.00), many Ludlow High School students have part-time jobs in town. Having a job at the local Dunkin' Donuts, McDonald's, Burger King, Friendly's, Subway, Big Y, Blockbuster, or any other business, gives students extra spending money. Many of these working students also pay to maintain and insure their own cars, which can be quite expensive, especially for teenagers. Many businesses in town are very flexible with their scheduling allowing students to have jobs and still have time for school work and extracurriculars.

Out with the Old

Although much of high school is spent taking notes, reading books, and doing written assignments, with a few tests thrown in once in a while, all students welcome a change of pace. Science lab classes are often fun, and group projects for other classes such as English or history can often be a new way of learning a particular subject or concept. Art and music classes almost always entail hands-on learning experiences. Other electives such as journalism, technology education, psychology, and entrepreneurship are also enjoyable variations from the usual history, math, English, and science courses.

▲ Mr. Brian Bylicki's and Mr. Leonard Charest's senior government classes listen to Captain Mark Babineau from the Ludlow Fire Department as part of the local government partnership program.

▼ Sophomore Corey Mange concentrates as he works on an assignment for his Journalism II class. Although not much of the school, except for math and business, uses computers, the journalism students use their seven computers on a daily basis.

◀ Juniors Jessica Barbeau and Bryan Alves work diligently on their utopian project for Mrs. Suzanne Kelley's American literature class in which they had to create their own utopian community, based on the transcendentalists' principles.

◀ The band warms up before a Saturday morning football game, which they were required to attend as part of their grades.

▲ Seniors Russ Tetreault, Kelly Lamas, Andrew DuFresne, and Jill Krystofik are hard at work on a physics lab. Most science courses at LHS require a two-day-a-week lab class to accompany the regular class.

► The renovations have added a double level ramp to the hallway system at Ludlow High School. The upper level leads from the math wing and a stairwell to the language hallway. The lower level goes from the main office to the main intersection of hallways.

► Students hurriedly walk to their next class down the language hall before the four-minute passing bell rings.

▲ When the architect designed the new main stairwell, he seemed to have forgotten to put in the other door. Here students try to squeeze through the single doorway that is the most congested area in the school. There are already plans to change the doorway.

▼ The hallways quickly empty out after the final bell has rung at 1:55 p.m. Only the students waiting for rides are left in the deserted corridors.

A New Route

With the renovations, an adjustment students have made is changing the route they normally take to go to their classes. One major annoyance to many students has been the main stairwell. At the beginning of the year, the staircase was not yet finished and students had to use the staircases at the ends of the hallways. Many students were excited about the main staircase's availability when it first was finished, but they soon discovered that it wasn't an improvement. This "well-designed" stairwell, now only had one door instead of two. Passing through this door has become such a hassle that many students avoid it altogether.

▲ Students rush to go to their lockers at the end of the school day in the main hallway. Brand new lockers were added to the newly renovated building, although some students complain about the small size compared to the old lockers.

► Seniors Helder Pires, Krisin Fortune, and Justin Dolley wait patiently in the deli bar line while senior John Kania smiles and says hi to a passing friend. The deli bar offers a choice of ham, turkey, roast beef, tuna, or chicken salad on a choice of bread or roll.

► Seniors Elizabeth Proulx, Milena Sebastiao, Kara Livingston, Allison Butler, Jill Krystofik, and Gina Scagliarini enjoy their lunch and socializing in the senior lounge.

Lunchtime at LHS isn't just a time to eat, but also to socialize.

New Refreshment

A break from classes, a time to talk with friends, an opportunity to quiet a grumbling stomach, a last chance to do homework from the night before. Lunch will always be the highlight of the day for some students. With so many students gathering at one of three lunches, the lunchroom can often be considered the social center of the school, in addition of course, to providing nourishment to get through the day. Students may choose food from one of four lines: hot lunch, deli bar, à la carte, or the snack line. Although some students may complain, there is quite a variety of foods from which to choose.

▲ Lunch patrol is a group of seniors who make sure no students go into other areas of the building during lunch. Here seniors Jen Rego, Jen Rubbo, and Paulo Dias guard the doors leading to the main lobby.

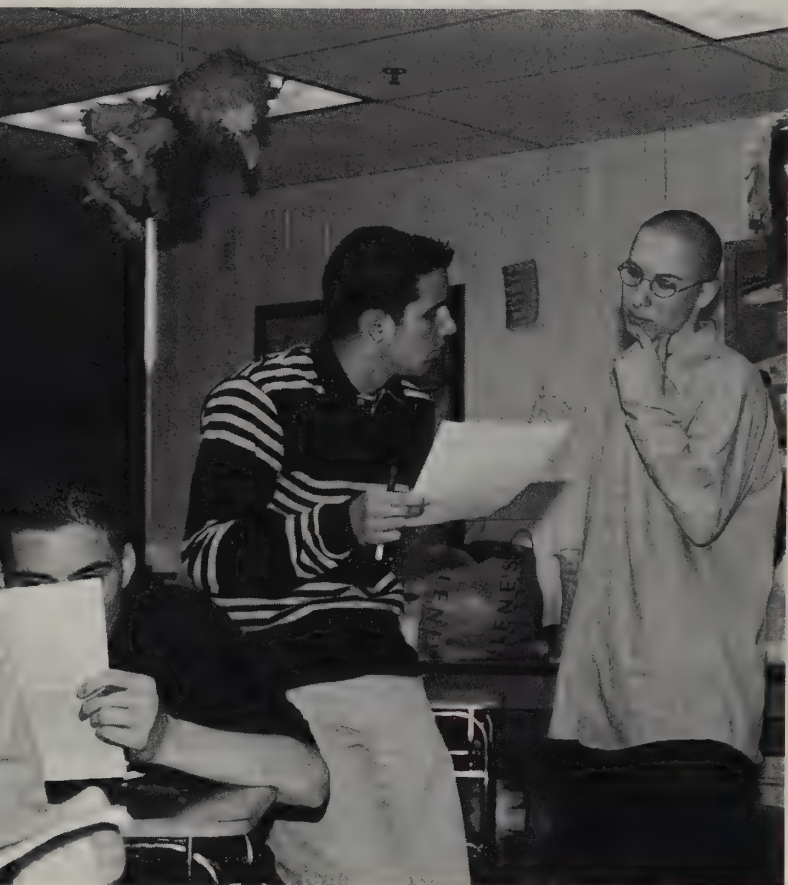

▼ Seniors Danielle Fuller, Heather Lelievre, and Sarah Dominique work at the school store set up in the hallway leading to the gym. The school store was started as a project for the entrepreneurship elective class.

▲ Lunch is not only a time to eat, but it is also a time to socialize and meet with friends.

◀ A few students get their condiments from the condiment bar, which includes ketchup, mustard, mayonnaise, barbecue sauce as well as plastic forks, knives, and spoons, and of course, napkins.

▲ Seniors Kristin Fortune and Stephanie Griffith need a lot of room to spread out to do their homework in Mrs. Mary-Beth Will's split study. Split studies consist of twenty minutes of a study, second lunch, and another twenty-minutes of a study.

◀ Being top students in a class requires a lot of work. Seniors Kara Livingston and Samantha Dias know this. They study hard to maintain their position in the top ten of the senior class.

◀ Senior Filipe Barroso works diligently on the write-up for a physics lab. Although, labs are often fun, doing the write-ups for them is not always as enjoyable.

Same Old Work

Whether it is in a quiet nook in the library, in the noisy commotion of the lunchroom, in a scheduled study, or even in the busy hallways, one can always find a student cracking open a book to do some last minute homework or study for a test or quiz. School will always have this kind of work because no matter how hard students protest, teachers insist on giving them an education! The kind and amount of work varies from teacher to teacher, but old studying habits, established during a Ludlow High School student's early years, will pull the student through the high school years.

► Senior class president Russ Tetreault goes a little crazy on a Thursday afternoon with his acoustic guitar and his crazy-eyes sunglasses.

*Old friends, familiar faces,
a time to say good-bye.*

Senior Portraits

Senior year is the final farewell for students who have lived and grown together. It is closure for all the good times and the bad, and it is also a time for seniors to go off on their own and make their dreams come true.

Senior year is especially busy because of all the choices seniors must make as well as the events that make the senior year Planning show and decisions about the future are all part of senior year.

Senior Frank Lopes sings his rendition of Britney Spears's "Hit Me Baby One More Time" with the accompaniment of Rob Driscoll on acoustic guitar at a senior show rehearsal.

As the end of the senior year draws closer, friendships are strengthened, new bonds are formed, and all seniors are thinking of the day when they will walk across the stage in their caps and gowns and receive their diplomas.

No matter what the future may hold for the members of the class of 2001, they will always be able to remember their time at Ludlow High School.

▲ Seniors spend a Wednesday night observing their fellow classmates practice their skits, dances, and songs for the senior show in the auditorium.

"The Last Day"

*We'll forever remember the fun we had,
We'll remember the great times, not the bad.
We'll keep our heads high as we walk down the aisle
Dressed up in our gowns and a gleaming smile.*

*We'll all be happy when the final moment comes,
When we all say goodbye to everyone.
We'll walk up the aisle filled with pride,
No back to our seats and start to cry.*

*Our teachers will say, "Come back and visit when you can."
We'll say, "I will" and shake their hands.
We'll think of what they've done but then remember
That we won't be coming back next September.*

*We'll never forget what we have learned,
The great education we all have earned.
So now we leave on this our last day.
May our futures be bright, to God we pray.*

Lower Pioneer Valley Educational Collaborative

The students and teachers that make up this program are seen regularly in the halls and cafeteria at Ludlow High School. The program here at Ludlow is a part of the LPVEC and serves students from Ludlow as well as the surrounding areas. Some of these students in addition to being educated in the newly renovated rooms of E009 and E010 also deliver the supplies teachers request during the school year with the guidance of their teachers.

Underclassmen

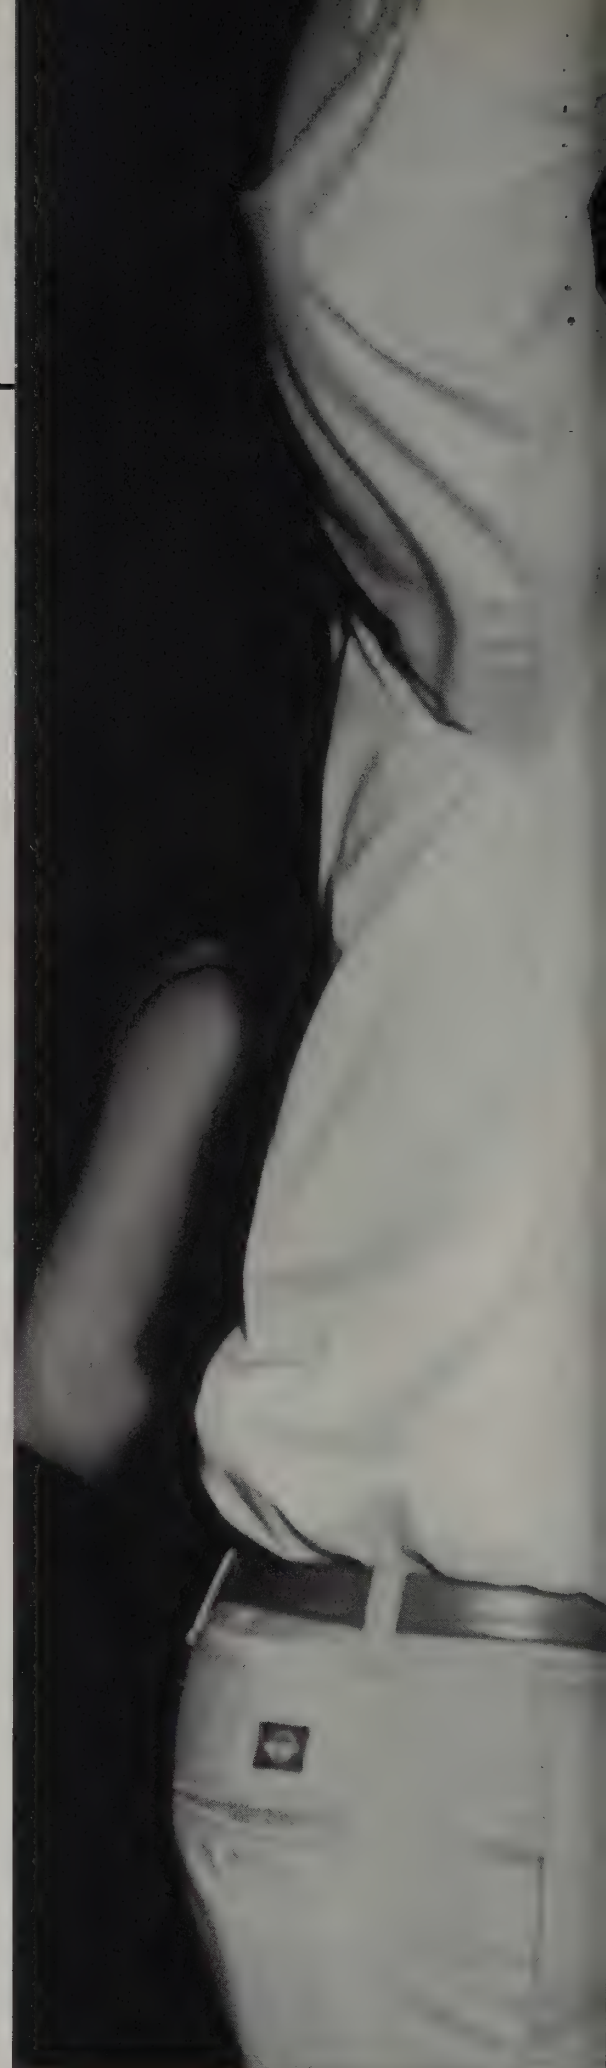

The underclassman years are very important years in a student's life. Freshman year marks the end of childhood and the beginning of a journey into adulthood, which is culminated in senior year. Throughout a student's years as an underclassman, he or she will slowly learn life's little lessons for life in the real world. Students are armed with knowledge and useful skills during their time at LHS. The underclassmen give to the hallways a new burst of energy, especially the freshmen with their huge backpacks. The new faces of the freshman class make school more interesting for the faculty as well as other students. Senior year is packed with colorful memories, but when graduates look back on their experiences at Ludlow High, they will recall not only senior year, but their underclassmen years as well. And of course, they will remember the underclassmen who gave them friendship and brought new life to the high school.

Junior Class Executive Board

President Noel Petrolati, Vice-president Liz André, Secretary Jill Bramucci, and Treasurer Karen Hammel led a successful year for the junior class. Advisors of the junior class are Mr. Martin Fanning and Mrs. Michelle Masse. The junior class took its educational field trip on December 7 to New York's Museum of Natural History. The regular class trip was to Hampton Beach in New Hampshire. The junior banquet was held at the Elmcrest Country Club in East Longmeadow on February 2. The junior class put together the Senior Assembly on May 31 during the school day. The junior class also planned the junior and senior prom on May 11 at Chez Josef in Agawam.

✦ 52% of the girls are nervous about graduating next year; only 28% of the guys are.

✦ 100% of girls intend to go to college; only 92% of guys do.

✦ About 40% of juniors did not go to as many parties this year as they did in earlier years. About 65% of juniors said that this was their most challenging year academically. See a connection?

✦ 68% of guys like the school food. 72% of girls do.

✦ 72% of guys and 48% of girls have cheated on a test this year. Shame on you!

✦ 28% of girls have been "injured" in the main stairwell this year.

✦ 52% of guys have let a girl put make-up on them.

✦ 64% of guys say their close friends have changed since freshman year. 72% of girls say the same.

✦ Over 60% of juniors have played at least one season of soccer.

✦ 28% of girls have their navel pierced.

✦ Contrary to popular belief, only 8% of the guys have dated multiple freshmen this year.

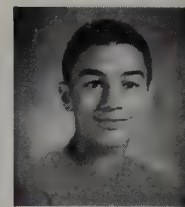

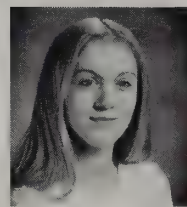

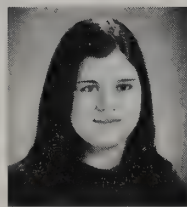

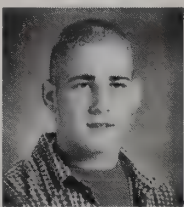

✦ 56% of guys and 44% of girls have been mean to underclassmen this year

✦ About 70% of both guys and girls went to the senior show.

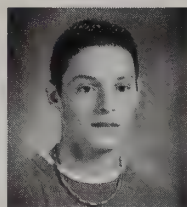

✦ 100% of those who went to the show enjoyed it.

Sophomore Class Executive Board

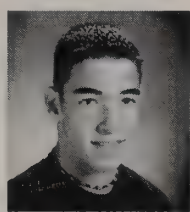

President Katie Vomero, Vice-president Dorothy Petrolati, Treasurer Amelie Lonczak, and Secretary Christopher Wozniak worked very hard to make this year a success for the sophomore class. The sophomore educational class trip was to Salem, Massachusetts, on October 24. Each student was given a free admission tickets to two different haunted houses. The other class trip was to Newport, Rhode Island, on June 20. The students went on a cruise, spent time at the beach, and had some free time to go shopping. The sophomore banquet was held at the Polish Club on March 23. The theme was "We Don't Have a Clue." This year, because of the theme, there was a mystery dance in which most students who attended the dance participated.

What is
opinion on the pajama controversy that arose
this year?

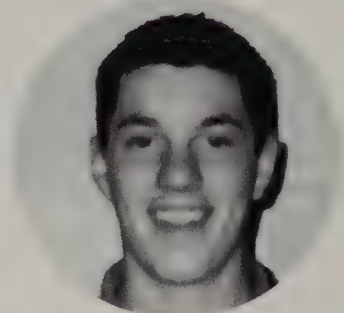

"I think we should be allowed to wear pj's to school because it doesn't say in our handbook that we can't. If girls can wear little skirts, we should be able to wear pajama pants."

Christina Faria

"If you are going to roll out of bed and come to school in your pajamas, make sure you know you look like a low life defacing our school appearance."

Bryon Almeida

"It is amazing to me that this was even an issue. We are the future of this town and need all the extracurricular activities we can get so we can excel in several ways other than academically."

"It would be completely foolish to get rid of all the extracurricular activities at LHS because they open new opportunities for the students and provide good experiences."

Did you know? Here are the results of a survey of 60 sophomores.

✿ 26% of sophomore guys and 23% of sophomore girls have been in a fist fight.

✿ Only about 25% of sophomores have never failed a test.

✿ 73% of girls have been in love (or at least thought so). 67% of guys have.

✿ 53% of guys have been in a car accident, but only 37% of girls have.

✿ 30% of both genders have cheated on a significant other.

✿ 30% of girls and 20% of guys have worn pajamas to school.

✿ Only 25% of sophomores have eaten sushi. Of those who have not, 74% of guys and 86% of girls say that they wouldn't. However, 82% of guys and 42% of girls who said they would not eat it admitted that they would if they were paid. One person actually was paid.

✿ 60% of guys and 37% of girls have skipped school. Over 90% of the skippers got away with it.

Freshman Class Executive Board

Freshman year has been an eventful year for the freshman executive board, planning two field trips and a first high school banquet. On February 9, the class of 2004 held its first class banquet at the Ludlow Country Club. Attendance was not as high as the officers would have liked, but everyone had a great time. The freshmen went to the Bronx Zoo in New York City for their educational field trip. For the fun field trip the class decided to follow in the footsteps of the upperclassmen by going to Hampton Beach. Although the weather was not the greatest, the students managed to entertain themselves by playing football, walking the boardwalk, and shopping. The class officers, advisors, and students had a fun-filled year.

Something Old . . .

This year, LHS says goodbye to several retiring teachers, many of whom have been here since the sixties. Retiring this year are Mrs. Carole Wojnarwski, Mr. Richard Kolodziey, Mr. Gordon Eaton, Mr. Leonard Charest, Mr. Raymond Yando, Mr. Daniel Lynes, Mrs. Phyllis Vanasse, and Mr. John Godek. These teachers have had a great impact upon the students who have come through LHS. Many of them have had the opportunity to teach the children of students whom they had earlier in their careers. Ludlow High will surely regret the loss of the experienced and knowledgeable individuals who have devoted so much of their time and effort to expanding the minds of their students. LHS thanks you all and wishes you luck in the future.

Something New . . .

This year, LHS was bursting with the new faces of teachers who were hired to replace retirees or other open positions. Mr. Stephen Marino became LHS's first Dean of Students, and Mrs. Jennifer Abel was hired as his replacement. Mr. Richard Cotti became a guidance counselor, and Mrs. Pamela Cangemi replaced him. Mrs. Faye Clymer switched to teaching science, and Mr. Adam Graves took over health. Some teachers were hired to replace retirees--Mrs. Linda Courtney for Mr. Richard Thomas, Mrs. Marilyn D'Agostino for Mrs. Carole Wojnarowski, and Mrs. Susan Phelon for Mrs. Frances Libiszewski. Mrs. Cynthia Koch replaced Mr. Robert Kuhn as the instrumental music teacher, and Mrs. Lydia Brady replaced Mrs. Dorothy Chrzan in the guidance office. And lastly, Mr. Dana Callan-Farley was hired as sign-language interpreter.

Clubs & Organizations

The importance of Ludlow's clubs and organizations really became apparent to many students this year when there was talk from the Finance Committee and the School Committee about the removal of them because there might not be enough money in the FY2002 budget to support them. However, the School Committee decision to place extra-curricular activities above more technology in classrooms. They found, as many students already knew, that these clubs and organizations give life to Ludlow High School. Many students could not imagine a school with no student newspaper, yearbook, band, or any of the other clubs that have such an impact on the school or community. Students are members of these clubs because they have a particular interest and would like to explore it more. With these after-school activities they have this opportunity.

KNOWLEDGE

These clubs offer students the chance to extend their interests in different subjects such as Spanish, French, or math; the opportunity to improve their verbal language skills; the chance to show how much knowledge subjects they've acquired; or the ability to show how much they've accomplished in school.

These clubs were all busy this year. The As Schools Match Wits team advanced to the semifinals. The French Club and Spanish Club planned celebrations of the various holidays associated with their languages. The other clubs also had an eventful year.

◀ DEBATE TEAM:

Juniors Dennis Gove and Chris Yu were the only two members of the debate team this year. Although the team was small, Ludlow High School still had the opportunity to host one of the debates.

CREATIVITY

Being in the band, pep band, jazz band, chorale, men's choir, or show choir not only requires a love of music, but also dedication to a loved activity. The band played at the football games as well as in parades and other performances. Both the pep band and the jazz band also played for the girls' home basketball games and smaller local concerts, respectively. All the singing groups were also busy this year, not only practicing for the various concerts, but also for this year's production of Guys and Dolls. Many of the rolls in the play were cast from among these groups.

Staying late, getting the job done, having faith.

DEDICATION

Dedication is one quality all the students in these clubs possess. Many of them go above and beyond the normal staying after school for a particular activity by staying into the night or using their weekends or vacations to make sure they get the job done. Even when it seems as if the deadline will never be met or a fund-raiser or event will never occur, somehow these students have faith in themselves and in their club to persevere to accomplish great things. No matter what the task, these students don't balk at hard work showing their devotion.

◀ Editor-in-Chief of The Cub, senior Katelyn Thompson, takes a break from writing an article. She often stays late after school to meet the deadlines for the newspaper to be sent to J & S Printing in Alabama.

LEADERSHIP

Taking initiative and showing confidence are some of the qualities the students in these clubs have in common. They give up their time to try to make our high school a better place, whether it is being a part of the government of the school, being a role model for others, going to School Committee meetings to give student input on issues, or simply making sure students don't wander the school during the three lunches. Whatever way these students are able to help make the school run more smoothly, they all show the qualities of born leaders.

ELEGANT EVENTS

Getting dressed up and going to homecoming, prom, or any of the other class banquets are social events many students look forward to from year to year. These elegant events offer students the chance to look their best and have fun with their peers in an atmosphere more relaxed than the daily grind of school or after-school activities. These semi-formals are a chance to find out who the best dancer is or if the class advisors will be brave enough to join in.

Junior Karen Hammel and senior Katie Louvitakis have a blast at the Homecoming themed "A Night on Broadway." The cafeteria was filled with 500 students from all grades who attended the dance.

They are a time to eat good food and dance until feet hurt. The class banquets give students the opportunity to unite with their class and have as much fun as possible. Homecoming even gives the previous graduating class a chance to join in all the fun. Even though these special dances only last for a few hours, the memories that are made at these elegant events will last a lifetime.

A NIGHT ON BROADWAY

Homecoming

This year's "A Night on Broadway" homecoming dance, held on Friday November 17, was a huge success. For only $10 students were treated to a night of dancing, cake, fruit, punch, and friends. Five hundred students attended this traditional event sponsored by The Cub, advised by Mrs. Suzanne Kelley. The chairperson of the dance was senior Katelyn Thompson and head of decorations was senior Jill Krystofik. The king and the queen of the event were Jay Devlin and Jessica Vital. Many black and red balloons along with a remarkable marquee were placed around the cafeteria. The D.J. for the event was Dave Costa, who did a great job keeping the crowd happy with his choice of music. Homecoming once again proved to be a memorable event.

A NEW DANCING SCENE

Freshman Banquet

On February 9, 2001, the freshman class banquet was held at the Ludlow Country Club from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. The event was planned by the freshman executive board consisting of Marissa Yelle, Caitlin McInerny, Jeff Ribeiro, Jacob Oliveira, Cristina André, Kaitlyn LaRiviere, Dan Vogel, Aditi Kulkarni, and Angela DiAugustino as well as class advisors Mrs. Mary-Beth Will and Mr. James Marceau. The banquet started with a social period, followed by dinner of either stuffed chicken breast, fish, prime rib, or a vegetarian meal. The cost was $30 per person to attend, and surprisingly, seniors, juniors, and sophomores went to the freshman banquet. It was fun for those who attended and one of the first nights to remember for the class of 2004.

WE DON'T HAVE A CLUE

Sophomore Banquet

On March 23, the sophomore class held its banquet at the Ludlow Polish Club from 6 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The theme was "We Don't Have a Clue," and was shown by the dead-body outline, magnifying glasses, footprints, and question marks. Alcoa catered the event with roast beef, chicken, potatoes, rice, salad, and pasta. Katie Vomero, Jen DeSousa, Amelie Lonczak, and Jen Howard planned the event, while many others helped to decorate. Dan Canuel as the D.J. turned out to be a bad choice because many of the sophomores didn't like the music. Names were drawn to decide who would dance with whom in the "mystery dance." In the end, over 150 people attended, and everyone had a good time despite the music.

Junior Banquet

The theme of this year's junior class banquet was "Kissing Cupid." The banquet, held on February 2 at the Elmcrest Country Club in East Longmeadow, started at 5:30 p.m. and ended at 10:30 p.m. The dinner of chicken, beef, or a vegetarian platter was catered by the country club. A total of 135 tickets were sold at $25 each. The banquet hall was filled with Valentine's Day decorations. During the evening there was a "mystery dance," which has become a tradition at the class of 2002 banquets. President Noel Petrolati, vice-president Liz André, secretary Jill Bramucci, and treasurer Karen Hammel worked hard to make the night successful and memorable for all who attended.

MASQUERADE

Senior Banquet

The senior banquet, themed "Masquerade," was held on Friday March 2 from 6 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Chicopee. At the door the seniors were handed out black masks. Tickets to the banquet cost $25 each. The meal was catered by the K of C Hall and offered a variety of foods including pasta, chicken, meatballs, beans, salad, and desert. The seniors danced the night away with the help of D.J. Dave Costa who played popular songs and club music. The senior executive board with the help of the advisors planned the event. For the very last song at a class of 2001 class banquet the D.J. played "Friends Forever (Graduation)" by Vitamin C while seniors gathered in a large circle with arms around one another and sang along.

▼ "Are you sure you won't dance with me?" Junior Chris Dias gives his girlfriend Nicole Chaves a concerned look ◀ Filomena Carvalho pulls Ashley Gomes aside on the dance floor to tell her a secret. Perhaps she is telling her to videotape someone in particular. Gomes captured much of the night on her hand-held video camera.

◀ Boyfriend and girlfriend Mike Linton and Tiffany Normandin share a special moment after one of the slow dances. The D.J. noticing there were few couples in attendance opted to play few slow songs.

WISH UPON A STAR

Junior-Senior Prom

This year's junior-senior prom theme was "Wish Upon a Star," and wishes were coming true from 5:30 p.m. until 11 p.m. on May 11 at Chez Josef in Agawam. The tables were decorated with blue and silver stars. Tiny foam stars in champagne glasses for the girls and mugs for the boys served as place cards. Each glass also contained a rolled up poem expanding on the theme as well. The prom was the first school event at which students were required to take a breathalyzer test before entering with the new breathalyzer S.A.D.D. purchased. D.J. Bob Hogan provided the music, and photos were taken by MacLean-Stevens Studios. The event was a success, thanks to advisors Mr. Martin Fanning and Mrs. Michelle Masse and a prom committee led by Noel Petrolati, Liz Andre, and Alyssa Momnie.

▼ The prom king and queen and also senior class couple, Jay Devlin and Jessica Vital, are flanked by the rest of their court, Joe Jorge, Lisete Simoes, Dennis Carroll, and Joanne Wozniak.

▲ The prom prince and princess were Nate Cabana and Liz André, and members of their court were Noel Petrolati, Brock Gaspar, Lauren Mislak, and Dave Cioch. Prince Cabana is styling in his Scottish kilt.

◀ Juniors and seniors crowd together to take advantage of the dance floor at Chez Josef.

Raising money, traveling to new places, creating lasting memories.

Special Events

Some of the best memories made in high school come from participating in the special events Ludlow High School holds each year.

Junior and senior girls alike enjoyed themselves immensely showing the boys how football is supposed to be played in the annual Powder Puff Football Game.

The Student Council fund-dance was a highlight for all participants in this them-based on a 1950s sock-hop. Students participated in ed dance

Students also seemed to be traveling all over the world this year from New York City and Boston to Toronto, Florida, Washington, D.C., and over the ocean to France.

And, of course, the music department's production of Guys and Dolls will be a great memory for all those who attended as well as all those who participated.

Powder Puff Football Game Juniors vs. Seniors

On November 12 at 1 o'clock p.m. at Whitney Park, the junior and senior girls faced off in the second annual Powder Puff Football game. This event was planned as a fund-raiser for the senior class. The seniors, wearing white long-sleeve T-shirts, defeated the juniors, in red long-sleeve T-shirts, by a score of 28-7.

The junior touchdown did not come without controversy as it was argued by the seniors and their coach that Liz Andre's flag had been removed before she crossed the touchdown line. For the senior team, Katie Louvitakis contributed greatly to the team's victory by acting as running back and making most of the senior team's touchdowns.

On the sidelines throughout the game, senior Russ Tetreault and junior Scott Mahoney, dressed as female cheerleaders, cheered their respective class teams on, along with the pep band. Because of the upcoming girls' soccer and girls' volleyball championship games later in the week, some of the original players chose to watch instead of play because of the fear of injuries.

A number of people showed up to watch this entertaining football game despite the cool fall weather, and although no admission was charged as planned to raise money, the event was still a success for all those who participated.

Student Council Dance

"Sock It to Me"

On March 16 Student Council sponsored a themed dance, "Sock It to Me," as a fund-raiser from 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Student Council president senior Joanne Wozniak and Student Council secretary junior Jaclyn Vilaca were the two organizers for the dance along with Student Council advisor Mr. Brian Bylicki. Students attending were encouraged to dress in '50s' styled clothing. Many of the girls dressed in capris and tennis shoes with ribboned pony tails while the boys dressed in rolled-up jeans and tennis shoes with their hair slicked back. Approximately 112 students attended the dance, which cost $5 per person.

"Sock It to Me" was held in the cafeteria, decorated with a '50s' theme. The senior lounge area was set up to resemble a drive-in theater with a couch and mats in front of a screen made of a sheet. Cardboard jukeboxes were placed around the cafeteria. Students had the opportunity to dance to music from the '50s' as well as some modern music played by D.J. Dave Costa. Sometime in the middle of the night Mr. Bylicki led students in the hand-jive. The night ended with a conga-line dance to the final song in Grease, "We Go Together." Throughout the night, students could take a break from dancing to sit and watch either American Graffiti or Grease. Cookies, chips, and soda were also available to students during the dance.

Traveling Far and Wide Leaving Ludlow

Going on field trips through the year, whether education or simply for fun, made the year much more interesting. There were a great number of field trips taken this year in addition to the normal two class trips most students go on such as the freshman class educational field trip to the Bronx Zoo in New York or the senior class educational field trip to George's Island in Boston.

This year the band was able to raise enough money to take a four-day trip to Toronto to compete in the North American Music Festival against approx. 25 other schools from the United States and Canada during the last week of April. While in the area they were in the area they were able to tour the Sky Dome as well as attend a Toronto Blue Jays baseball game. On their bus ride home they were also able to see the majestic sight of Niagara Falls on the Canadian-U.S. border. The band came home with a silver medal from the competition and many memories from their time north of the border.

The girls' varsity basketball team also took a trip this year. The girls raised enough money to travel to Disney World and compete in the five-day KSA Holiday Classic tournament during the Christmas break. In addition to playing basketball, the girls toured the Disney theme parks.

▲ These boys from the band (Carl Parylak, Mike Norris, Filipe Barroso, Mike Gaudreau, Nate Cabana, Ben Pease, Matt Boucher, and Bill LaBelle-Boucher) decided to show their loyalty to the home-state team by spelling out "GO REDSOX" with their bodies. Unfortunately they were in Toronto watching the Toronto Blue Jays play the Anaheim Angels.

Eighteen students, most of whom were French III and IV students, had the opportunity to travel to France during the April vacation week. While in France they toured the French Riviera, Nice, Avignon, and Paris. They were able to see all the major attractions in the country as well as do some exploring on their own. The students came home with a new respect for the French culture, which they experienced first hand.

The Spanish and French Clubs, as well as the entrepreneurship class, had field trips during the year to New York City. The Spanish and French clubs members were able to attend plays and tour the city, while the entrepreneurship class had the opportunity to buy goods for the newly opened school store.

Journalism students and others had the opportunity to take a four-day trip to Washington D.C. at the end of the school year, where they were able to explore the Newseum, and see all of the monuments as well as take a tour of the Capitol Building, the National Cathedral, and Arlington Cemetery.

▼ Miss Adelaide, senior Stephanie Griffith, comforts Sarah Brown, sophomore Katie Vomero, who is weary about the folies of men. Both girls also starred in last year's production of Grease.

Sing It From the Rooftops!

Guys and Dolls

Sing it from the rooftops! On March 9th and 10th the Ludlow High School Music Department put on its production of the musical Guys and Dolls. The actors perfored for nearly sell-out crowds, who paid $5 per ticket, after intense practicing after school and during vacations for weeks to learn their roles. These students not only had to learn how to sing their songs well but also how to bring their characters to life.

The male lead roles of gamblers Nathan Detroit and Sky Masterson were portrayed by junior Nathan Cabana and senior Andrew DaCruz. The female leads of nightclub singer Miss Adelaide and missionary Sarah Brown were brought to life by senior Stephanie Griffith and sophomore Katie Vomero, both of whom had lead roles in last year's production of Grease, Griffith as Sandy and Vomero as Rizzo. The four lead roles were backed by a solid cast of extras, many of whom were in either band or one of the many choirs here at LHS.

Behind the scenes, Mrs. Mary-Beth Will acted as musical director, and Mrs. Diana Roy as drama director. Senior Jenna Doty volunteered to be the choreographer for the musical with many years of dance under her belt. The sets were simple to represent New York City and Havana during the 1920s.

Guys and Dolls was enjoyed by all who attended.

▲ The guys of Guys and Dolls solemnly swear to Sarah Brown and the other Salvation Army missionaries that they will not gamble ever again.

► Seniors Joanne Wozniak, Heather O'Connell, and Darcie McGrady are all smiles after they graduate on June 1 at the Mullins Center in Amherst.

Having fun, looking back, spending the last few moments together.

Senior Activities

Senior week was a time for the members of the Class of 2001 to bond, as only a large group of people making one of the greatest steps in their life can.

The senior show was a time for the Class of 2001 to discover great talents in their classmates, to learn how much fun working toward a common goal can be, and to discover exactly how the guys you've known since kindergarten look with make-up.

Seniors Jessica Moore and Erin Murphy are a little emotional after experiencing Senior Assembly on the Thursday morning before they graduate.

Class Night was an experience for graduates and their parents to celebrate all the accomplishments of the Class of 2001. And Senior Assembly was a wonderful time to remember all the great times our class has had together. The class mystery trip to High Meadow and the senior banquet at the Huke Lau Restaurant were the last two social events the class had before their final walk across the Mullins Center stage on June 1 as graduates of the Class of 2001.

▲ Seniors Nick Rock and Ryan Jurkowski enjoy themselves while talking to friends at the senior banquet held at the Hu Ke Lau Restaurant.

► Seniors Leo Picuch and Jen Rego are the most memorable couple in the skit "Temptation Island," where unfortunately their love does not withstand the test and Picuch leaves Rego for model Katelyn Thompson.

▼ The lunch ladies (Jenn Jorge, Monica Budrow, Danielle LaBelle-Boucher, and Melissa Jorge) love to flirt with student Helder Pires in the skit "Bologna Ugly." They glow under his compliments as he asks what's available at the deli bar.

► "Hey, girls can kick butt too!" as the girls of "Cokkinias's Angels" show us here in an action scene from their three part skit. Angels Lisete Simoes and Jenn Jorge seem to be losing this fight here against Alethea Lambert, Steph Santos, and Kara Williamson, but, don't worry, Simoes and Jorge come out on top by the end of the skit.

"Through the Years" Senior Show

This year's senior show held on May 18 and 19, and entitled "Through the Years," was filled with funny, entertaining skits, wonderful dancing, and excellent singing. A highlight for many was the return of Mr. James Martin as the coordinator for the final act based on the musical "South Pacific," in which sixteen senior guys sung and danced their hearts out as sailors abandoned on an island. The senior show coordinators, Cristina Ferreira, Ashley Gomes, Jill Krystofik, Dennis Carroll, and Danielle LaBelle-Boucher, along with advisors, Mrs. Toni-Marie Mancuso, Mrs. Anna Cokkinias, and Mrs. Mary-Beth Will, led the seniors in nighttime practices beginning in March to make this year's senior show one of the best.

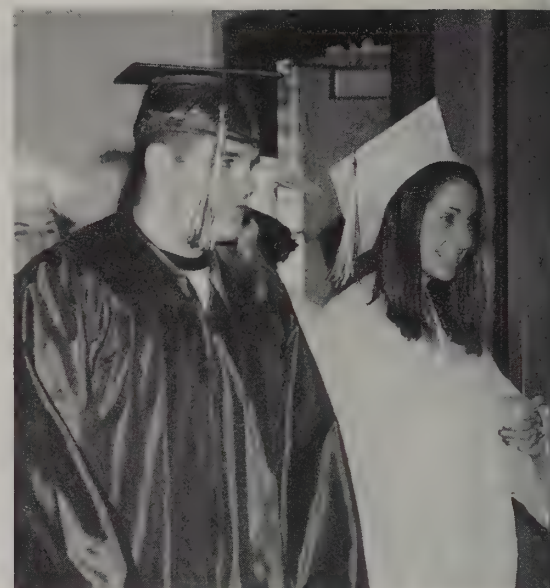

▲ Ashley Gomes skips off stage at the end of "School Distractions," following Brian Rogowski on a bike. In the skit Gomes plays an annoying student in a class that just seems to be continuously interrupted by everything from construction workers to the calling of a Code Magenta, a spin-off of LHS's own Code White, Code Red, and Code Blue called in emergency situations.

▼► Nicole Chaves gives a thumb-up signal as she and her walking partner Pedro Dias enter the auditorium for the first time in their cap and gown.

▲ The senior members of the choir singing their rendition of Vitamin C's graduation song, "Friends Forever," struck an emotional chord for many seniors, as they begin to realize this is the last week they will be together as a class.

► Senior Stephanie Santos is all smiles as she receives her state championship soccer plaque from principal, Dr. James Cokkinias.

◀ One of the most emotional moments of the night occurred when senior Sarah Russell received the first ever Nicole Pollard Memorial Scholarship, named in honor of Pollard who passed away from cancer last year. Here Pollard's mother describes how Pollard and Russell first met and why Russell deserves this scholarship.

▼ Senior class salutatorian Kara Livingston addresses her speech to the Class of 2001, and tells the seniors how much potential each of them has.

Class Night

The usual Class Day was held at night this year, so that parents would be able to attend this assembly celebrating their sons' and daughters' accomplishments. These accomplishments were a culmination of all the hard work and dedication the members of the Class of 2001 have shown both academically and athletically throughout their four years at LHS. The master of ceremonies was Principal Dr. James Cokkinias, and members of the school committee were also in attendance. Along with scholarships and awards being given out, senior salutatorian Kara Livingston gave her speech telling the graduates that their memories of the past four years will stay with them forever.

Senior Assembly

The Class of 2002 put on an amazing senior assembly complete with yellow roses to symbolize the friendship between the two classes, a beautiful candle-lighting ceremony at the end, where the juniors surrounded the seated graduates, a skit making fun of the senior show, and a slide show featuring the seniors. One of the most emotional and memorable parts of the assembly was the time when seniors gave their parents letters to thank them for what they have taught them, and to symbolize the end of their childhood and the start of their venture into the adult world. The senior assembly was a time for both parents and graduates to remember all the good times they have had in Ludlow growing up.

▼ The juniors really tried to make fun of the senior show in their annual skit, but as they admitted in their hoe-down song, it was just too darn hard because the show was so good. Here juniors Scott Mahoney, Liz André, Karen Hammel, and Nate Cabana sing their hoe-down song.

▲ Senior class president Russ Tetreault thanks class advisors Mrs. Rebecca Gauvin and Mr. Jeff Peterson for all they have done for the class. (Mr. Tim Brillo is off stage helping organize the letters to the parents.)

► It's an emotional moment for Brian Rogowski as his mother gives him a hug after she receives the letter addressed to her and his father. (Dad is to the right smiling proudly.)

◀ All around the auditorium the seniors are hugging one another after the letters to their parents are handed out. Here Rachel Cunha hugs her good friend Liz DaSilva.

▼ It was an amazing sight to see the circle of candlelight with which the junior class surrounded the graduates at the end of the ceremony.

◀ Senior Liz Botelho is holding back the tears as she thanks her parents for all they've given her and taught her.

► Senior Phil Rodrigues seems a bit enthralled as he watches the Polynesian show from the wall in the back of the room just as many of the other seniors do.

▼ Russ Tetreault and Dennis Carroll boogie down on the dance floor trying to imitate the dancers on the stage during the show.

Senior Banquet

The last event the seniors had a chance to go to before their big day was their senior banquet held on Thursday, May 31, at 6:00 p.m. at the Hu Ke Lau Restaurant in Chicopee. During this night before they graduated, the seniors had the chance to dress in colorful Hawaiian-style clothing, eat Chinese food, enjoy a Polynesian show, and dance until they were tired. The food was set up on a buffet table so that seniors could take as many helpings as they wanted. After the show, senior Greg Gaudreau set up his D.J. equipment to fill the room with great dance music for the rest of the evening. All the seniors were reluctant to leave at the end of the night.

▲ Andre Queiroga goes up to the Chinese food buffet for second. The seniors had many buffet dishes from which to choose.

◀ Cristina Carreira and Vanessa Manuel look through sets of photos to find the ones they donated for the slide show at Senior Assembly.

◀▼ Shannon Doherty laughs loudly while talking to some of her friends on the fringe of the dance floor.

▲ A group of senior girls enjoy themselves while watching the show put on by the dancers and singers at the Hu Ke Lau.

► Before the start of the ceremony, Sarah Davis enjoys the time to say hi to her family. Her niece gives her tassel a tug.

▼ Dennis Carroll and Frank Lopes are all smiles after graduating.

▼► "This is for you." Andre Queiroga seems to be saying as he leaves the stage with his diploma in hand.

Graduation

On Friday, June 1, the Class of 2001 left the Mullins Center at UMass in Amherst after a ceremony beginning at 7:00 p.m. as another group of alumni of Ludlow High School. After practicing all morning on how exactly they should be walking (no cutting corners allowed!), it was a proud moment for all the graduates and all the families and friends who attended as the seniors received their diplomas. In addition to speeches by the superintendent and the chairperson of the School Committee, senior class valedictorian Allison Butler and senior class president Russ Tetreault also gave speeches. It was an end to the Class of 2001's time at LHS, but also the beginning of their lives as adults.

Angela,

The Path Ahead

The years have come and gone so fast and now the day is here for you to take the next big step. It's off to college, my dear.

There are no words for me to say, no promises to make,
about the road that lies ahead and the chances you will take.

Remember those who have touched your life in so many different ways because they're the ones who'll love you until your dying days.

I know you will succeed in life because your heart is true.
You've always given everything in all you say and do.

So look out world, here she comes, this angel from above.
She'll succeed in everything because her heart is made of love.

Love always,
Jim

Angela,

A daughter is a special gift from God to cherish and love, to watch grow from a little girl into a beautiful woman. You have enhanced our lives in so many ways: your smile, your laughter, your intelligence, and most of all your kindness and caring to all you have touched. We wish you the strength and confidence for all the challenges ahead of you. We wish you never to change your compassion for life and to remember to live each day as if it was your last. We love you so much and are so proud of you. May all your dreams come true.

Love,

More people choose STCC than any other college in Western Mass.

Shouldn't you? Call our Admissions Office at 755-4202 and come visit our historic campus to see why STCC should be your first choice for:

HEALTH - Career preparation in more health sciences fields than any other college in New England. Our students gain clinical experience in area hospitals or campus clinics, and usually achieve 100% passing rates on national certifying exams. Our Nursing students make higher scores than many bachelor's degree RN programs.

BUSINESS & INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES - If you've heard about all the job openings in information technologies, here's where you get the training. Or if you'd like to start your own business, or manage one, we're well known for entrepreneurial education.

ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGIES - Preparation for careers in high tech fields such as telecommunications, lasers, CAD, CAM and lots more. We're partners in programs with Microsoft, Ford, Cisco Systems, and other national corporations.

ENGINEERING & SCIENCE TRANSFER - Our students regularly transfer to RPI and other institutions in several areas of engineering and sciences.

LIBERAL ARTS TRANSFER - Our students transfer to Smith, Mt. Holyoke, and many other colleges and universities.

What else? ▲ STCC offers a higher student to computer ratio than institutions such as MIT. ▲ Many of our sports teams play in state and national championships. ▲ All our students get free e-mail accounts.

There are a lot of other reasons why STCC should be your first choice - come visit us to learn more.

Something GREAT

For years very little changed at Ludlow High School, whether it was a student having the same teacher as his parent or using a building where students referred to rooms by a specific teacher's name rather than by its number. Things changed this year when new faces appeared and new classrooms and facilities were opened for use. The students and staff learned to adapt to new changes and embrace them, but did not forget how things once had been.

Some things like the atmosphere of LHS will never change. There is as much school spirit as ever, and a sense of community that includes and protects all. The students have learned to embrace the old traditions that set this school apart, but also to be excited about fresh new ideas students and staff come up with. All in all, this year has been a time where every aspect of Ludlow High School has melded the new with the old to create something great.

A symbol of the melding of both old and new, the mural that used to grace the front outdoor entrance now has a new home at the entrance to the auditorium in the large indoor foyer.

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover." ---Mark Twain

Trish Norris*Editor-in-ChiefLaura PronovostBusiness ManagerKerri Line

Well, what can I say, but "Thank God it's done!" This is the final page of a book that began before senior year even started and went on much later than graduation. I knew that yearbook was a lot of work, but I didn't understand exactly how much work it was until I became editor-in-chief. At the beginning of this year, I was placed in a daunting but very exciting situation--I had 160 blank pages staring back at me that I needed to fill with photos, captions, quotes, and stories that would tell the history of Ludlow High School during this year. I was excited because it gave me a chance to create something that would be around for a very long time. It was also a very challenging opportunity because creating a yearbook was not always an easy task, sometimes things just seemed to go wrong--people were never available right when we needed them, pictures didn't exist that we desperately had to have, or computers went screwy right before we saved something.

I would like to thank my business manager, Laura Pronovost, who made sure I didn't have to worry about any of the business aspect of producing the yearbook and handled everything wonderfully, and my junior editor, Aislinn Emirzian, who was always there whenever I needed her, especially with fresh, new ideas. I would also like to thank Dan Fernandes for being the sports editor, who also had to put up with missing or late-arriving photographs courtesy of The Greniers. I would also like to thank Liz Hangasky, Kerri Line, and James Brodeur, all of whom we were stuck with many of the jobs no one else wanted to do. Finally, I would like to give my greatest thanks to Mrs. Suzanne Kelley, who gave up her weeknights and Saturdays just to make sure all my grammar was correct. A final thanks to our Herff Jones representative, Claire Sygiel, who never complained when my pages were way overdue.

Yearbook has definitely been a challenge both to my dedication and my work ethic, but every hour spent hunched over the computer screen analyzing every little detail that would soon be printed has been worth every minute because I feel like I have truly accomplished something. I hope you enjoy looking through this yearbook because I had a lot of fun producing it. To my graduating class, I want to thank you for all the memories I will take away from LHS. I will truly miss all of you. I wish you the best of luck in all your future endeavors.

Sincerely, Trish Norris

Colophon

The 2001 edition of the Ludlow High School Lion was printed in offset lithography by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Gettysburg, PA.

It was printed in a limited edition of 230 copies with 168 pages. The paper stock used throughout the book is 100 lb. Bordeaux. The cover is a woven silkscreen material in Maroon with Rich gold and Ivory applied colors. It is printed on 120 point binder's board. The endsheets are Ivory Fibratex stock with HJ Maroon ink. The book is Smyth-sewn in 16 page signatures, trimmed to 8 1/2" x 11." In addition to the black ink used throughout, there are three flats of four-color.

Various typefaces were used throughout the book.
